It was then settled that those States that had a excess of delegates over their Congressional representation should designate who should cast their electoral vote. This was done.

The names of the following men were then puforward for Vice Presidency:—

[he] Period of Mescaphysetts

John Davis, of Massachusetts. Theodore Frelinghuysen, of New Jersey. Millard Fillmore, of New York. John Sargent, of Pennsylvania.

The voting was viva voce. Every delegate was called out, and he rose and named his man, and the result was on the first ballot:—

For Frelinghuysen..... 101

Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetta, Connecticut, Vermont, Chio, Indiana, 3 from South Carolina, 3 from Missouri, 5 from Kentucky, and 2 from Illinois voted for Jo n Davis. New York, 3 each from Chio, Illinois and Michigan voted for Fillmore. Pennsylvania, Delaware (') and Rhode Island (') voteu for Sargent. New Jersey, Maryland, Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Tennessee, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Arkansas, 3 from Illinois and 2 from Missouri voted for Frelinghuysen—on the first voting!

A second ballot was had immediately. The result was—Delaware bolted, and went for Frelinghuysen; so did the men from Ohio, and two from Indiana, who had voted for Sargent. The South Carolina men, and two from Ohio, and one from Indiana, bolted from John Davis, and went over to Freling-

Some one then rose, and withdrew the name of John Sargent, amidst loud cheers.

A third ballot was demanded! The result was for—

BALTIMORE, May 1, 1844. This day has been a glorious one for the whigh of the United States. The sun shone out to-day in gladness, imparting a teeling of gladness to every well wisher of his country. The erthusiasn and excitement is tremendous-think of a fourth of July in New York, and you have some idea of the crowds which throng the streets. The ladies. God bless them! are out, too-Market street and Baltimore street is full of them. One would think they were inclined to shut out the world, congregated here, from their sweet smiles. No, their reputation for beauty is at stake, and well have they maintained it. Such tall, fine forms, I have never maintained it. Such tail, the forms, I have never witnessed, and they dress with a great deal of taste. Balzarines are worn by every one, with such enormous bustles as must cause a rise in the cotton market. Barnum's Hotel contains over a hundred splendid ladies, many of them from Kentucky. Willis Hall, Est, is here. Your regular correspondent will give you the details of what

Another large one comes from Kentucky, on foot all the way!

Next in order was the Tenth Ward Albany Clay Club—a full length portrait of Clay, painted in blue satin.

Reverse, a megalificent portrait of Clay, by Woodside, with a ship in full sail and implements of husbandry. Motto, "Henry Clay, the Champion of American Industry."
The Prize Banner, at the store 108 Baltimore street, has attracted thousands of ladies and gentlemen. It is the most gorgeous piece of skill and workmanship got up in the banner line. It is designed and painted on crimson satin, by William Curlett, for the whigs of Baltimore, as an expense of $800. On one side is a good portrait of Clay, supported on either side by the genius of commerce and manufactures. Reversed, represents the motto, "The Union—our strong defence, impregnable to foes, priceless to friends," encircling which are the 26 States with insignia. It is richly mounted with gold lace, fringe, and tassels, and is altogether a most splended affair. The staff which supports it bears an engraved piece of silver—"This staff was cut for this banner by the hands of Henry Clay, from the growth of Ashland." "Presented by the Whigs of Baltimore to the State of _____, the delegation from that State being proportionably the largest in the Young Men's Whig National Convention of Ratification, held at Baltimore, May 2nd, 1844."

Thousands are yet on their winding way, and, as we return, are met with hearty cheers on announcing the choice of candidates.

[Correspondence of the Herald.] BALTIMORE, April 30, 1844. Trip to Baltimore-Appearance of the City-Wild Enthusiasm for Harry of the West-Movements of the Mass.

In common with several hundred of my fellowcitizens, including the sporting gentry, I took the rain from New York for Philadelphia on Monday. The day was fine and every thing tended to make the trip a pleasant and agreeable one. The Delaware was as smooth as a mirror, reflecting heaven and happiness; and on its bosom were dancing some of Uncle Sam's Revenue Cutters, the officers of which were making a survey of the river. The only objects worth notice on its banks are the residence of Bishop Dozne, a sec

ance. It is built of grey stone; surmounting the top is a true Catholic cross, an evidence of the Bishop's faith in Puseyism. Green Bank or River Side, as he has named it, is a lovely spot and reminds one of an English curate's residence. The amous "Andalusia" where the master spirit of the United States Bank, lately sojourned, as also the residence of loseph Buonaparte, are familiar to every passer by. After a hearty dianer in Philadelphia, we were again on our way to the city of monuments, pretty girls, and political conventions. We arrived soon after midnight, but the streets were as lively as the carnival at Rome. Every house is literally filled to overflowing, and "the cry is still they come." Barnum's is besieged by the silk stocking portion, while the more humble portion of the whigs fain turn in where their brethren will take them. A committee is in session to direct the delegates where their hospitable friends will take them in. Having a few hours in my hands to-day, btook the morning cars for the Capitol, which is reached in the short space of two hours, over a beautiful road. We passed Bladensburgh, where several great battles have been fought; adjoining which was pointed out the birth place of Wm. Wirt, Esq., an old fashioned house of Dutchbuild. Mr. Clay was at the capitol receiving the greetings of crowds of his friends that swarmed about him. He appears well, but somewhat thinner in the face the city of monuments, pretty girls, and political ion. Age seems to wear heavy upon his wrinkled brow, but his indomitable iron heart beats strong in the welfare of his country. I returned to Balti-

The Rhode Island delegation is just arrived and marshaling up to Colman's Exchange with music and hurrahing "like mad." In front of Barnum's are several hundreds gathered in the square, whilst on either side of the hotel steps are two ministrels singing songs. The moon shines out brightly, like a golden eagle just from the mint, and the enthusisam is tremendous. I expect it will be kept up till daylight. I should have mentioned, John Davis, of Massachusetts, is the most strongly talked of for the Vice Presidency.

Markets-Drought and the Crops-What is to be Done?

DEAR SIR :-Since my last there has been an increased acivity in our market, and sugars have improved in consequence of better advices from Europe. Ship-pers, however, very reluctantly pay the advanced rates, and they have only been obtained by a conession on the part of shipmasters and a decline in reights. We quote ordinary yellows 44 a 44rs., fair yellows 5 a 52rs., superior 6 a 62rs., white-ordinary, 62 a 72rs, fine 72 a S4rs., superior 92 a fair yellows 5 a 54rs., superior 6 a 64rs., whiter ordinary, 64 a 74rs, fine 74 a 84rs., superior 94 a 104rs. The stock on hand is very large, and the crop will exceed last year's some 20,000 or 30,000 boxes. Coffee—The small stock barely affords sufficient supply for the demand, and prices are somewhat better. Fair $54 a 6, good 64 a 64, superior $74 a 84. Molasses continue in active demand, and 14rs. on the coast is freely paid. Freights are very dull, and no stability in rates. We quote from £27s 64 to £2 12s 64 to Cowes and a market. New York $14 per box, $34 per hhd. Exchange—London 8 a 9 per cent, New York 3 per cent, Boston 34 discount.

You will no doubt have heard of the barbarous murder of young Murphy here some days since. The excitement has somewhat subsided, but the feeling is yet strong on the subject. The corporal and sentinel are both on trial, and the evidence of many American seamen has been received. The body was embalmed and sent to Charleston per Warrior (arrived.) to the Seamen's Aid Society. We hope it will be well taken care of.

The drought still continues; in seven months we have had but three small showers of rain. The cattle, poultry, and everything else, are absolutely dying for want of food. Although it is excellent weather for getting in the present crop of sugar, if we do not soon have rain it will make a very great difference in the coming crop, as the cane is already much willted and will without water soon die. It seems as if the curse of heaven was upon us. The land and streams parched up—the negros in a most terrible state of discontent—the government making arrests on all sides—incendiaries at work with brand, and worse than brand, thousands of seditious publications emanating heaven knows whence, in every hand—the government knows whence, in every hand—the government, the penple are not yet prepared for, we had almost said, capable of, and their only safety lies in a continuance of Spanish government, but a vigorous change of measures. 2

Bay State."

Connecticut—Henry Clay supported by the Goddess of Liberty and the Spirit of Prophecy. Motto, "Protection to George Kaine, a drayman, in the employ of Leech George Kaine, a drayman, in the employ of Leech & Co., was walking down Fenn street, in the fifth ward, just by the William Penn House, he was shot at by Wm. Martin, a baker by trade, from his door directly opposite. The gun was loaded with slugs and grape shot, and fourteen shot were taken out of his back, and three out of his aim, by the physicians in attendance, Drs. Huzlett and Speer. One of the balls struck him on each side of the back bone, and entering his right arm, cut the radical artry, which bled between three and four quarts; and another ball glancing by him, struck the old William Penn House, and bounding from thence in a south western direction, struck the United States Hotel, about thirty yards distant. Martin has escaped, and no clue to his whereabouts has yet been discovered to the police officers. No hopes are entertsined for the recovery of Kaine, and the physicians think he cannot live longer than a day or two at furthest. The origin of this tragical affair was jealousy on the part of Martin. From what we can learn, Kaine was a boarder at his house up to Friday night last, and had reason to suppose that he (Kaine) had illicit intercourse with his wife. This resulted in a quarrel between the parties, and Kaine was accordingly dismissed from the house. But this, it appears, did not appease theire of Martin, for he was heard to say that nothing but the life of Kaine would satisty his revenge. He must have premedituted the deed, for he was observed standing in the door of his house at a very early hour, and anxiously looking around him during all the time. Kaine saw him as he passed, and hurried on, tearful that Martin shot at him almost the moment he saw him. Kaine ren a flew yards, but fell down, from the loss of blood, on the canal bridge, and commenced calling for help, &c. Neveral persons in the neighborhood, startled at the report of the gun and the cries of the man, soon came to his relief and procured medical assistance. Martin is a married man, and has left behind him a wife and three c UPS AND DOWNS.—Horace St. John, whose operations in the bill market we have already announced, was examined before Recorder Baldwin yesterday. The investigation showed that his had once been a man of basiness—of legitimate business—and of some political consequence—an alderman of the corporation of the city of New York, and a member of the legislature. By his address, he sold to Samuel Locke, Rice & Hathaway, William Smith, and others, kites to the amount of several hundred dollars. These gentlemen found his kites would not fly in New York, and had him arrested. It appears that the money thus fraudulently obtained was extracted from him by a certain chemical process called gambling, by a class of professional gentlemen denominated blacklegs. He was sent before the Criminal Court.—New Orleans Republican, April 23.

TEXAN EXPRESS MESSENGER.—R. C. Murphy, bearer of despatches to the Texan government, who arrived here from Washington on Monday last, left this city for the Balize yesterday afternoon, with an oraer from the Collector of the Port to the commander of the Cutter "Vigilant" to convey him forthwith to Galveston,—New Orleans Rep. April 24.

QUEEN VICTORIA .- We observe that Dr. Pollock, QUEEN VICTORIA.—We observe that Dr. POHOCK, son of the Attorney General of England, and a physician of high repute, arrived by the Acadia, to attend to His Excellency the Governor General Our advices state in addition, that this mission has its sole origin in the kindly personal feelings of the Queen towards His Excellency, so much so that Her Majesty makes the expense a charge on the Frivy Purse.—Montreal Herald, April 39.

CLINTON AND KALAMAZOO CANAL.—The contract for the completion of this work between Frederick and Rochester, was let on the 17th instant, agreeably to the act of appropriation of the last session of the Legislature The work, we understand, will be commenced immediately.—Mt. Clemens (Mich.) Patriot.

STILL ANOTHER.—A fine beautifully modelled steamboat of about 200 tons burthen, was launched from the ship yard of Mr. Amos Crandall, of this town, yesterday afternoon. The boat is owned by Messrs. G. Willard and J. I. Gardner, of this place, and is to be fitted with propellers on the plan invented by Ericson. She is intended to ply between New York and Providence.—Bristol, R. I. Letter, April 20.
